Koch plans well expansion

By Rhonda Noyce
St. Paul Journal

Koch Exploration Canada Ltd. is planning the expansion of their Elk Point Project and they held an open house at the Ferguson Flats Hall last week to explain the details.

In September, 1996, Koch received approval to begin development of its Elk Point Project on eight ha (20 acre) spacing. Koch spokesperson Dean Britton explained that they have since applied for an amendment to the project and they are planning to expand development outside of the original six sections on other mineral rights holdings in the area.

This means Koch wants to drill about 280 wells over 15 sections, in areas south and north of Elk Point.

On the six sections of land, Britton said Koch can produce 4,000 barrels of oil per day.

"We could reach 21,000 barrels per day and have 460 wells total," Britton explained.

Britton said they currently ship their waste products to Bonnyville, but they are constructing a battery facility in the Elk Point area that would process about 28,000 barrels of sales oil per day and about 16,000 barrels of dirty oil per day.

Koch received approval for the battery plant in May of this year and they expect to have it completed by December, said Britton.

"The road activity is high right now because of the construction, but it will decrease. We have been working with the County and will provide our share of the costs."

Including a number of displays Koch had set up around the hall last week, there was also an information sheet that explained the effect this project has on the environment and local community.

On the sheet they state, "Koch Exploration is committed, however, to continuing development in a manner that minimizes the potential negative impacts of the project."

And they demonstrate their commitment through the following means:

- Water demands for this project are small as primary production (which Koch uses) does not require steam. Water consumption is limited to amounts needed for domestic purposes.

- Koch often uses slant drilling and multiple wells on single pads to reduce operational impact on lands and land owners. This minimizes surface disturbance and enables the electrification of wells.

- The use of multi-well pads centralizes truck traffic, noise and dust disturbances for better control and monitoring.

Information from Koch also explains that they will continue to move their product by truck in order to maintain the economic viability of the Elk Point Project. But they recognize the concerns of local residents and are committed to taking a number of steps to reduce truck traffic. These measure include working with landowners and the County of St. Paul to select truck routes that minimize impacts on residences, and, in conjunction with other industry members, hiring a contractor to monitor the speed of oil trucks on county roads.

"We have a vested interest in maintaining the infrastructure," said community relations officer Tammy Sauer.

Sauer said that they are not sure how much the expansion will cost, but they will have a better idea after they submit their application for the amendment this month. She expects development to start in three to four months and they will employ 30 people.

"Ten will be hired internally, but we will have 20 new hires and we always benefit from the local talent," Sauer concluded.

Elk Point hosts their 10th annual open horse show

By Connie Capjack
Elk Point Agricultural Society

On Saturday, August 23 the Elk Point and District Agricultural Society (Livestock Division) hosted their 10th Annual Horse Show with well over 80 entries, making the show one of the largest ever.

This year's show was very special, because it was dedicated to the memory of Charlene Baker. Charlene was very involved in the horse show circuit and was a great advocate for the Elk Point Ag Society. A minute of silence was observed at the show in her memory.

On behalf of the Ag Society, a memorial plaque will display the names of the Junior and Senior High Point winners each year. This plaque will be displayed in the riding arena. Also, the members of the Ag. Society have decided to name the riding arena in memory of Charlene.

This year's Junior High Point blanket, sponsored by the Empress Family Restaurant was won by Ashley Larson riding E. T. Tivio, and runner up was Jamie Schnurer riding Panda. The Senior High Point blanket sponsored by Cobra Energy Consultants was won by Terrie Kromrey riding Diamond Eyed Lady and runner up was Kim Eremko riding Southern Wasatch. The Youth High Point 13-Under sponsored by Bailey's Western Wear was won by Danielle Schnurer riding Little Par Leo and Youth High Point 13-Under Overall sponsored by the Elk Point Ag Society was won by Lana Graham riding Dakota's Sunset.

Our judge this year was Ray Kelm from Edmonton. Some of the classes were very large making Ray's job very challenging. He did a great job. Glenn Harms was the announcer for the day and we would like to thank him for doing an excellent job.

A very special thank you goes to Hughie Krucik, our show secretary, who keeps things running smoothly, and to Shanna Baker and Daphne Schnurer, our ring stewards who helped the judge keep things on track for all the classes and helped with registration. Special thanks to Brian Schnurer, who got the arena ready before and during the show and looked after after getting the junior trail, etc. ready. Thanks to Shannon Capjack for helping register entries in the morning, Gail Kozicky who had a big job making sure all the competitors were in the right classes, Paul Gaugler who was our gate person for most of the day, Shauna Campbell who helped wherever needed, and to those who helped with the jumps, trail, etc.

A big thank you to Rosie Ahern who had her concession van there, it sure was great.

Our show would not be possible if not for our local sponsors and businesses that keep supporting us each year. Major sponsors included E-Can Oilfield Services, Dr. Adams Professional Corporation and family, Shamrock Valley Enterprises, and Reid's Welding, who sponsored the judge and ribbons, etc., along with 1st Class Office Supplies who donated the lettering for all the signs that were made. Shanna did a great job.

Placings and ribbons were awarded to sixth place, with prize money to fourth place. Placings were as follows, with prize donors in brackets:

Fall is here — school is in!

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Can you believe that our summer is over? We really did have a nice summer this year with a lot of warm days. But now it is September and fall is here. With the arrival of September, we all know what that means. Our children are back in school.

That reminds me of what a grandmother said to one of her grandchildren. She said, "Now that you have learned your ABCs, tell me what a truck starts with." The young boy thought, and then he said, "Grandma, why of course I know. It starts with a key!"

As school starts, some of our young children will be walking, some riding and some driving. Yes, if they are driving, a truck does start with a key, but I hope they remember that a truck starts with the letter "T". The letter "T" also starts the spelling of the word "Teacher." School and Teacher are two words which start with letters in the alphabet that are close together. Anyway, both are valuable.

There are many stories about how a teacher can make a difference in the "school" experience for the student. (By the way, did you notice that the word student also starts with the letter "S" which is close to the letter "T" in the alphabet.) Anyway, there is a short story I like called "Purple" by a n unknown author.

"In first grade, Mr. Lohr said my purple teepee wasn't realistic enough, that purple was no color for a tent, that purple was a color for people who died, that my drawing wasn't good enough to hang with the others. I walked back to my seat counting the swish swishes of my baggy corduroy trousers. With a black crayon, nightfall came to my purple tent in the middle of an afternoon.

In second grade, Mr. Barta said, "Draw anything." He didn't care what. I left my paper blank and when he came around to my desk, my heart beat like a tomtom while he touched my head with his big hand and in a soft voice said, "The snowfall. How clean and white and beautiful."

Yes, a "teacher" can make and does make a difference to a "student" who attends "school" After all, all three words begin with letters beside each other in the alphabet. One conclusion to this thought could be that they all need to work together. It is important.

TIC talk

By Sherry Pelech
Tourist Information Clerk

Just the other day (or so it seems) we were telling someone, "We have the whole summer ahead of us." Well, we don't. All of a sudden we are finishing our last week here at the TIC (Tourist Information Centre). And so, as promised, for those of you who like those things, (and we know you're out there), here are some statistics:

1. The TIC was open this year for ten weeks from June 15 through August 31.
2. In that time we dispensed information, applause, sympathy, a few snickers and/or a hearty guffaw or two to about 550 people.
3. This is almost exactly the same number as last year.
4. The big difference this year is that we had way more people from the Maritimes and fewer people from the States.

And for those of you who don't like statistics, (and we know you're out there too), here, as promised, are a couple of golfing and fishing jokes:

A couple of golfing buddies were just about to putt when a funeral procession passed by on the near-by road. One of the men quickly removed his hat and stood with bowed head until the last car had gone by.

"That showed a lot of respect for the departed," his buddy commented as they finished out the hole.

"Well, it was the least I could do," the other guy said. "I was married to her for forty years."

A young boy informed his mother he wouldn't be taking his little sister fishing with him anymore. His mother asked, "Why not? She loves to go with you and she promises to be very quiet so as not to disturb the fish."

"It's not that," the boy replied. "The problem is, she keeps eating all the bait."

OK, that's a wrap! See you all next year.

Nutrition notes

By Shelley Miller-Hertes
Registered Dietician, Elk Point
Health Centre

Athletes and travelling to sporting events go hand-in-hand. Travelling does not have to be hazardous to an athlete's performance.

One key is to avoid changes to your routine. Schedule meals at the usual times. Eat foods you know will be well tolerated. It may be best to check out what foods are available at the venue. This allows you to know what you might want to bring with you in terms of snacks and beverages.

If travelling by plane is in your plans, significant dehydration can occur in a few hours. Drink plenty of fluids, but limit your intake of caffeine-containing beverages and alcoholic drinks, as these will further dehydrate you.

Competition meals should be high in complex carbohydrates (eg. breads, cereals, pasta) and low in fat. This combination facilitates digestion and provides essential energy. If athletes are billeting, teams may want to provide meal/snack suggestions to the hosts ahead of time.

When eating in restaurants, choose basic foods which are low in visible and hidden fats. Avoid fried or battered food, foods in cream sauces, salad with creamy-type dressing, and high fat desserts.

Here are some menu suggestions:

- * dry toast or muffins with jam
- * pancakes (hold the butter), French toast, cereals
- * sandwiches made with ham, turkey, chicken or roast beef. Sandwich fillings made with

Athletes and eating on the road mayonnaise may be harder to digest before event time.

* minestrone, split pea, beef and barley, chicken rice, vegetable, or chicken noodle soup are better choices than cream soups.

* spaghetti with tomato sauce

* thick crust pizza with vegetarian toppings instead of sausage and pepperoni

* plain hamburgers (hold the sauces)

* cooked or raw vegetables without dressings and rich sauces

* baked potatoes are good choices. Keep the toppings to a minimum though.

* order extra bread or buns to increase the amount of carbohydrates in a meal.

These tips should help you perform at your personal best, wherever you're off to this school year.

What's news at the library?

Back to school... and storytime!

By Michele Duczek
Librarian

School has begun again and that means that storytime is about to begin another season at the library. Our first storytime will be Friday, September 5, 1997 at 10:30 a.m. Anyone with preschool children is welcome to attend. Anyone wanting to read a story or otherwise entertain preschool children is also welcome to attend.

In honor of the new school year and the start of storytime, here are a few new picture books recently arrived at the library:

Sammy and Mary take turns watching their little brother on the farm but one day they leave him alone for a few minutes and he disappears in John Joe and the Big Hen by Martin Waddell and Paul Howard.

Zita Newcome's Toddlerobics is packed with actions and exercises which will get your child moving while they enjoy the colorful pictures.

Everyone in the jungle is hiding because Big Bro is coming and he is BIG in Watch Out! Big Bro's Coming! by Jez Alborough.

And more in juvenile fiction: Frank and Joe visit a friend who is working as a Viking in a recreation of an authentic Viking village in Minnesota but someone is trying to sabotage the village in The Viking's Revenge from the Hardy Boys Casefiles.

When a Thing in one of their closets comes alive and grabs one of them, Adam and his friends know they are in big trouble in The Thing in the Closet from Spooksville.

An ordinary school field trip turns into an extraordinary trip back to the time of the pharaohs in A Puzzling Day in the Land of the Pharaohs by Scoular Anderson.

Outcasts Jessa and Thorkil are banished to the very ends of the earth, into the lair of an unknown terror in The Snow-Walker's Son by Catherine Fisher.

An evil witch seeks revenge with a faceless creature that destroys everything in its path in The Empty Hand by Catherine Fisher.

On the eve of a wedding, the people of Jarishold are cast into a dreamworld where their dreams, and nightmares, are all too real in The Soul Thieves by Catherine Fisher.

The library has also received nearly all the nominated titles for the 1998 Young Reader's Choice Award. If you're a student in grades 4 through 12, you can participate in choosing next year's winners. Ask at the library for more details.

NOTICE

NOTICE OF AN APPLICATION BY ELK POINT GAS, LTD.
FOR APPROVAL TO CHANGE ITS GAS COST RECOVERY RATE FOR THE PERIOD 1 OCTOBER 1997 TO 31 OCTOBER 1998.

Elk Point Gas, Ltd. (Elk Point or the Company) has applied to the Alberta Energy and Utilities Board (the Board) for an increase in its Gas Cost Recovery Rate (GCRR) from $0.656/GJ to $0.713/GJ for the period 1 October 1997 to 31 October 1998.

Elk Point's application, dated 18 August 1997 (the Application) was filed in compliance with the deferred gas accounting and reconciliation procedures approved by the Board in Decision E92012 dated 5 February 1992. These procedures require the Company to reconcile its actual gas costs with gas cost recovery revenues for the preceding gas contract year and highlight the over/under recovery of costs resulting from differences between actual and forecast gas purchase and royalty costs. The Company is also required to file a calculation of a revised GCRR for the ensuing period 1 November 1997 to 31 October 1998, based on forecast sales, gas supply requirements and costs adjusted by the prior year's over/under recovery.

The procedures also requires that the Company provide, on a quarterly basis, interim reporting information that includes, for each month, the gas supply expense booked and actual costs incurred, along with the balances held in the Deferred Gas Account (DGA). In a letter dated 21 July 1997, the Board advised the Company that a review of the information filed for the quarter ended 30 April 1997, indicated that the surplus balance in the DGA would not be drawn down as envisaged when the existing GCRR was approved in Decision U96114, dated 9 December 1996. The Board considered that the results indicated a need to re-assess the appropriateness of existing GCRR prior to 1 November 1997. Accordingly, Elk Point has requested that the revision to the GCRR be effective 1 October 1997.

In the Application, Elk Point indicates that the proposed increase in the GCRR is primarily due to an increase in the average gas purchase price. Effective 1 November 1997, the price which Elk Point will pay for gas supplies will be based on monthly market prices, as referenced by the daily average of AECO-C NIT. The forecast weighted average price for the 1997/98 gas contract year is $1.73/GJ, an increase of $0.455/GJ (35.7%) over the existing fixed price of $1.275/GJ.

TO SEE THE APPLICATION

Complete copies of the Application are available for inspection at the Board's offices in Edmonton at the address indicated below. Interested parties may arrange to examine or obtain the filed information by contacting the Company at the address indicated below.

OBJECTIONS TO THE APPLICATION

Interested parties wishing to file an objection to the Application must set out their name, address and the way in which the Application affects them, in a written notice which must be received on or before 17 September 1997 by both the Board and the Company at the addresses below. Any party who has not registered by that time will not be entitled to further notice of these proceedings. If objections are received, the Board may, without further notice, schedule a hearing of the Application or may continue by way of a written proceeding. If no objections are received, the Board may proceed to issue an order with respect to the Application without further notice. If further information is required with respect to the process for dealing with this Application, please contact the Board at the address indicated below:
